Hundreds of tourists a day pass over Hai Van Pass but few ever make it to Son Tra, an area of infinite beauty and blissfully free of souvenir vendors. This day trip takes you from the lowlands to the mountains, stopping at several other viewpoints along the way that few tourists will ever get to see. Have your cameras ready- this is one spectacular day out!

Your first stop is at Thap Bang An where we will visit a 900-year-old Cham tower. Then zoom up to Bo Bo Hill, also known as Hilltop 55, a site of historical importance during the American war before breaking for a coffee at a local shop. From here we begin the climb up to Son Tra reveling in the lush tropical vistas of the peninsula and the awesome riding. Rising 642 meters above the coastline, we snake around the mountain through dense foliage. Keep your eye out for monkeys, especially in the cooler months as there are plenty on the mountain. Then we descend along the other side of the mountain to see Vietnam's biggest Buddha statue and down toward the fishing villages where the colorful wooden boats are moored along the coast. Making our way back to Hoi An there is time for one final stop at Marble Mountain before returning to Hoi An.

TESTIMONIALS

Brilliant day. Amazing tour through small villages, Danang, jungle, and mountain peaks. Our tour leader had a huge amount of information and every rider was catered to regardless of their experience. Definitely the best day I have had in Vietnam! Don't leave Hoi An without touring with these guys!

The modified Russian Minsk motorbikes we used we very cool looking and I felt like I was going very fast (I was told later I wasn't!). We rode through the beautiful Vietnamese countryside, saw lovely views from Monkey Mountain, and visited some interesting sites including a Cham temple, Linh Ong pagoda, and a US sniper base.
