Escape with us for a half-day mountain biking through the Vietnamese countryside.

If you are athletic, enjoy cycling, and love nature, then join us for an outing on our local trails and roads across the Vietnamese countryside. Spend the half-day riding through postcard-perfect scenery. Cross bamboo bridges (not available in the wintertime), and ride through rice fields and quaint villages. Cycle through the countryside just for the fun of it.

Pause halfway through your trip to have a break and eat a local sandwich (Banh Mi) on the edge of a small lake, relax and enjoy the views of the surrounding mountains and tropical forest. There are no special visits planned during this trip, but you are free to make impromptu stops along the way to meet the inhabitants of the local villages and to discover their way of life.
